

The Strava Heat Map and the End of Secrets

The US military is reexamining security policies after fitness tracker data shared on social media revealed bases and patrol routes

